Narberth and Berwyn Play for League Title

Narberth's baseball team will culminate a sensational spurt from cellar to roof-top of the Main Line Baseball League this Saturday, when it plays, at 3:15 P. M. on the borough playground, a deciding game for the championship of the first half of the league pennant race. It is expected that the contest will be witnessed by the largest crowd of the year, from all points of the Main Line. The game will not be played in Villanova as announced in the Sunday papers.

The opponent is Berwyn, which is tied with Narberth for first place, each team having won four games and lost three.

In rising to first place, Narberth staged a remarkable record. Early in the season it was at the bottom of the league. Since then it defeated Media, Paoli and Brookline once each and Berwyn twice—for five straight conquests.

Narberth won the league championship last season. This Saturday's game will determine the borough nine's chances for another conquest this year.

Llanerch Proves Easy Victim For Narberth in Twilight Fray.

By John Uberti.

At the rate those Narberth champions have been winning for the past two weeks it looks very much as though Berwyn is in for a lot of trouble in Saturday's championship brawl. "Gene" Davis' clan came through as was expected of them on Wednesday night as they piled up hits in abundance for a cluster of thirteen and tripped the Llanerch Club nine points to one.

Walter Masters occupied the mound against Llanerch and earned his second conquest of the year in serving eight tiny licks from which the foemen

Great Crowd Views Narberth Fireworks

Brilliant Pyrotechnic Display Attracts People From Entire Main Line.

EXTRA POLICE NEEDED

One of the largest crowds ever assembled on the Main Line witnessed the fireworks display on the Narberth Community Playground on the evening of the Fourth.

The affair, sponsored by a committee of the Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion of Narberth, came as a fitting close to the celebration of Independence Day in the Borough. The Narberth baseball team turned back Paoli and Berwyn in well attended games in the morning and afternoon to tie Berwyn for league honors, making a playoff tomorrow necessary.

Beginning with the thud of aerial bombs, the committee followed with ground display as dusk settled on the large open spot. Then the vast multitude of Borough and Main Line residents were entranced for upwards of an hour with the beautiful and gorgeous displays of set pieces and sky pyrotechnics.

As it grew darker, the varied colored and repeating rockets cast their effulgence high in the heavens. The display was witnessed by many from their porches, while spectators were present from points as far distant as Paoli.

Four extra policemen were detailed to handle the traffic, cars being parked for blocks away.

Rotary Speaker Tells of Business Racketeers

How honest business men are robbed of many millions of dollars each year through the operation of a multitude of rackets was shown Tuesday by George W. Connor, of the Better Business Bureau of Philadelphia. Mr. Connor spoke as guest of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club.

"Read before you sign, and before you invest—investigate," Mr. Connor warned, and then followed the statement with a large number of examples showing the methods of business racketeers.

Some of the high points of the work of the Better Business Bureaus, of which there are fifty-three in large cities, were shown in campaigns to restrict dishonest advertising, to control such stunts as the "stolen fur" game and the "free lot" racket, and to block the picture enlarging enterprise.

A warning on the stolen fur, or smuggled fur scheme was broadcast by the bureau two weeks ago. Hundreds of people were shown to have been victimized by the spurious sailor who shows a worthless fur, claiming it to be a valuable piece smuggled in.

Brynwood Manor Swimming Pool Termed 'Neighborhood Nuisance' by Boro Residents

Borough to Invoke Zoning Ordinance As Ousting Measure.

HEARING WAS HELD

The Brynwood Manor Swimming Pool on Montgomery Avenue, Narberth, has again become the focal point of a community disturbance. It is a neighborhood nuisance, according to many residents of the vicinity and is also being conducted in violation of the Borough's zoning ordinance.

When the pool was first projected, the organizers were given a permit by the Borough with the understanding that it be used only by guests of the Brynwood Manor Inn and residents of the cottages on the tract. Now with the Inn and many of the cottages vacant, it is being conducted as a swimming club in a purely commercial manner.

"It will be attacked first," Burgess Frye said, "as a proposition in violation of the Zoning Ordinance. It is on the south side of Montgomery Pike in a strictly residential section. If we are unable to get anywhere by that approach, there are any number of neighbors who are ready to swear that it constitutes a nuisance."

A hearing on the case was held at Elm Hall, Narberth, last night. The property is now owned by the Bryn Mawr Trust Company. Bud Rudolph is the manager of the pool.

Last year application was made for a building permit to erect a bath house adjacent to the pool. A temporary permit, calling for a wooden structure to be demolished in the early fall was granted by the Borough Council. Recently the pool backers applied for a permit to put up a masonry bath house on the property which was refused by the Building Inspector.

Library Receives Gift

The Narberth Community Library takes pleasure in announcing a gift from Mrs. Jeannette Campbell-Chetwood, of the Windsor-Essex, of the income from $500 to be used for the purchase of literature tending towards the development and maintenance of better homes. Mrs. Campbell-Chetwood was so much impressed by the Better Homes Week exhibits of 1929, especially by the part played by the children, that she desires to make some permanent and continuous effort towards that same end. The library has always added each year some material of this sort, but will now be able to develop this section more fully.

Playgrounds Prove Extremely Popular

Attendance For First Three Days Numbers 671; Tennis Courts Busy.

SWEAR IN JUNIOR POLICE

Six hundred and seventy-one children is the total attendance for the first three days at the Narberth Playgrounds which opened for the summer on Monday. This is practically double the number for this time last year.

There is never a moment of inaction on the new tennis courts which are being utilized to the greatest possible extent. From 9:30 until 5:30 they are used by the children who take turns at fifteen-minute intervals.

Use of the courts will be permitted adults from 6 P. M. until dark and on Sundays from 1 until 7 P. M. Only regulation flat soled tennis shoes or sneakers will be permitted on the courts since they are in first-class condition and it is the hope of those in charge to keep them so. Adults wishing to play, said Allan B. Wetherall, director of the playgrounds, should sign up on the bulletin board at the

'Divorcee,' 'Honey,' and 'Cuckoos' Feature Films at Cynwyd

George Bancroft in "Ladies Love Brutes," and Laurel and Hardy in "Blotto" are featured at the Egyptian Theatre, Cynwyd, this Friday night.

This Saturday Maurice Chevalier returns in "The Love Parade"—colorful musical romance, filled with popular melodies and adroit humor and with love-making by France's most popular comedian.

Norma Shearer, one of the talking screen's most popular actresses, will be seen-heard at the Egyptian Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in "The Divorcee," her greatest and latest role. Based on a story by Ursula Parrott, "The Divorcee" has in its cast Chester Morris, Conrad Nagel and Robert Montgomery.

"Honey," starring Nancy Carroll, will be at the Egyptian next Thursday and Friday. Its songs include "In My Little Hope Chest," "I Don't Need Atmosphere," "Let's Be Domestic" and "Sing, You Sinners"—the last is sung by a chorus of a hundred splendid negro voices, and has become a sensational hit. "Honey" is the story of an impoverished Virginia girl who leases her mansion to a wealthy New York widow, who insists on having a staff of servants. Only one servant—ZaSu Pitts—appears with her clever little daughter, Mitzi Green. Nancy, desperate, makes her brother, Skeets Gallagher, impersonate the butler, and she herself assumes the job of the cook When the widow, her daughter and her daughter's suitor arrive, complications begin, and are made more complicated by the arrival of comedian Harry Green, who as a private detective, undertakes to guard the widow's jewels

Coming to the Egyptian Saturday of next week is Arthur Guy Empey's original story of U. S. Cavalry life "Troopers Three." Films scheduled for presentation the rest of July are Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey in "The Cuckoos," Dennis King and Jeanette MacDonald in "The Vagabond King," Lawrence Gray and Benny Rubin in "Children of Pleasure," Ramon Novarro and Dorothy Jordan in "In Gay Madrid," and Buster Keaton and Anita Page in "Free and Easy."

Haines and Barrymore Comedies at Narberth

William Haines, comedian of wise-cracking fame, will be seen-heard in one of his best characterizations at the Narberth Theatre this Friday and Saturday, "The Girl Said No." Leila Hyams, we believe, is the girl. Also scheduled this week-end are Fox Movietone News, a fable in sound called "Western Whoopee," and a clever Clark and McCullough comedy, "Hired and Fired."

Next Monday and Tuesday, Narberth's feature will be "The Lummox," one of Fanny Hurst's touching and at the same time humorous stories.

John Barrymore in a comedy, "The Man From Blankleys," will be seen-heard at the borough playhouse next Wednesday and Thursday. "Humorous, diverting, inimitable, delicious" are some of the tributes paid by critics to this new characterization of America's foremost actor.

Next Friday and Saturday Narberth's feature will be "Hunting Tigers in India," with "Today and Yesterday" as an extra attraction. Coming soon are Norma Shearer in "The Divorcee," her best and most recent picture; Al Jolson in "Mammy," and Nancy Carroll in "Honey."

BUSINESS SIDELIGHTS

By PAT

Summer dresses need to be laundered oh, so often, and St. Mary's Laundry have a wonderfully perfected service for the washing and finishing of summer frocks. Gingham, linens, piques, clean as the proverbial new pin, beautifully ironed by hand in a building as clean and sweet smelling as a sun parlor! The charge for sleeveless dresses is only 35 cents and at that rate who couldn't have these bothersome, yet delightfully essential bits of attire, laundered each week?

Yes, there's a similar service for the men folks. Palm Beach suits, linen suits, knickers, etc., laundered literally cleaner than new.

This convenience is just a matter of using the telephone, and in no time your wardrobe is returned ready for wear. This is certainly the age of service and specialization!

New Fruit Market

Alterations are being made at the vacant store at 235 Haverford Avenue, which will, next Friday, July 18, be opened as Max's Quality Fruit Market. The proprietor, Max Breslow, is well known in Narberth, and had for five and a half years been connected with another fruit market in the borough, until he decided to open his own establishment. He plans to have fruit and vegetables fresh daily, and sea food on Fridays. Specials will be announced next week at the time of the opening.

Shea Doubles Size of Pharmacy Here

Absorbs Next-Door Store and Increases Refreshment Facilities.

Alterations were completed last week by Charles L. Jenkins in the vacant store between Davis' and Shea's Pharmacy at the corner of Haverford Avenue near the Narberth Station, and this week J. Paul Shea found himself occupying quarters double the size of his former ones. The enlargement of the drug store was made necessary by the growth of his business.

The building is owned by J. P. White and was built by John B. Alker and Charles C. White with the purpose of making it the prettiest building in Narberth. Of Indiana limestone and red tapestry brick, the apartments and stores were completed four years ago. The enlarged drug store's greater facilities include a new soda fountain and several cool booths that will aid to make Shea's a Narberth refreshment center this summer.

The corner is the site of many pharmacies, where druggists have held forth since the beginning of the century, when William F. J. Fiedler was the proprietor. Claude H. Crane maintained his drug store there until he moved to the corner of Haverford and Narberth Avenues, now occupied by a chain drug store.

Paul Shea, one-time prescription clerk for Crane, will have conducted his own pharmacy four years this November, and in that period of time he has compounded nearly 20,000 prescriptions—attesting to the confidence accorded him by his neighbors and friends here.

Stromberg-Carlson Is Here

The Wunder Battery and Electric Service, across Forest Avenue from Elm Hall, now has on display the Stromberg-Carlson line of radios—"for those who want the best." Plans for an extensive selling campaign here are being formulated by Mr. Wunder, who also sells the Atwater-Kent Radio. Stromberg - Carlsons are made as radios, as phonographs, and as combinations of both, and have high recommendations for their true tone and selectivity.

FORE AND AFT

The waning of the theatrical season in Philadelphia is again, as in past seasons, the peak of activity in Moylan-Rose Valley at the Hedgerow Theatre. Again, more and more Philadelphians and suburbanites are taking the jaunt to Moylan-Rose Valley to enjoy Hedgerow's varied productions which run now from Tuesday to Saturday, with a different play holding forth each evening. The increasing numbers who reach Hedgerow by automobile have made it necessary this year for Hedgerow to convert a large field adjoining the theatre into parking grounds. It would seem to be almost time for Hedgerow to speculate on how to accommodate, in a year or so, more than the 168 people that the theatre can house.

Next week's program at Hedgerow, in addition to featuring the two newest plays in the repertory—O'Neill's "The First Man," and Chiarelli's "The Mask and the Face"—contains three of Eugene O'Neill's serious dramas. "The First Man," which opened Saturday evening, July 11, will have its second performance on Tuesday evening, July 15, with William Price, Dudley Vaughan, Alfred Rowe and Sue Platt heading a large and competent cast. "The Emperor Jones" with Wayland Rudd and Jasper Deeter in leading roles, is scheduled for Wednesday evening, July 16; and O'Neill's "The Hairy Ape," with Harry Bellaver in the lead, is the offering on Friday evening, July 18.

Comedy entertainment of the very highest order is more than amply supplied in next week's program by George Bernard Shaw's "Captain Brassbound's Conversion" on Thursday evening, July 17, and by Chiarelli's "The Mask and the Face" on Saturday evening, July 19. Edwin Anderson, Gretchen Anton-Smith and William Price are seen in leading roles in "Captain Brassbound's Conversion." Walter Hart and Kay Roma head the large cast of "The Mask and the Face" in which—reports on the opening performance of the play have it—the laughter provoked by the hilarious situations of the play, borders close to hysterics.

On Monday night The Play of the Week Company, which William R Kane is sponsoring at the Garrick Theatre, will appear in George Bernard Shaw's clever play, "Candida." Unlike the other productions that Mr. Kane has presented at the Garrick, two stars will share honors in "Candida," Pauline Lord and Tom Powers, former Theatre Guild stars.

Owing to its tremendous popularity the play has been revived more frequently than any other work from the pen of Bernard Shaw. Miss Lord will be seen in the role of Candida and the other principal character will be portrayed by Mr. Powers.

The cast chosen to support the popular stars includes Pierre Watkins, Stuart Fox, Harriette MacGibbon, Charles Conrad, Jack McCann. It is said that John McKee has done an efficient job in directing this great play.

JOSEPH W. STARR

Joseph W. Starr, 407 N. Narberth Avenue, Narberth, secretary and treasurer of a number of building and loan associations in Philadelphia, died Monday in the Methodist Hospital. He was forty-two.

Mr. Starr was a member of the board of governors and was assistant treasurer of the alumni of Girard College, from which he was graduated in 1905. He had an office at 606 Bailey Building.

Funeral services were held yesterday at 2 P. M. from 3925 Chestnut Street Mr. Starr was unmarried.

To Hold Supper

The Sunshine Bible Class of the Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a supper on Thursday, July 17, between six and seven o'clock. It will be a cold platter supper. There will be accommodations for 200 people.

Nuisance or Convenience?

The Brynwood Manor Swimming Pool, which has led an uneasy existence during the three years of its life, has again come into the public eye through the desire, natural enough, on the part of its sponsors to make it a paying proposition.

Originally intended as an adjunct to the inn and cottages, it was granted a permit to operate. Beginning last year its field began to expand as people from other sections began to patronize it. Now it is run as a swimming club with members from various parts of the Main Line.

Considerable ballyhoo has been raised in these parts recently on behalf of a swimming pool for the Main Line. Here, at first glance, it would seem is the very thing. A pool easily accessible to heat-stricken residents of the section.

But look at the other side of the picture. The property on which the pool is located is in the heart of a residential neighborhood. Noise and commotion raised by the bathers has proved very annoying to people living in the vicinity. The pool, it is said, is open late in the evening, and is not always conducted in accordance with the most approved scientific methods.

By the looks of things the borough will not permit its zoning ordinance to be flaunted any longer, now that the proposition is cold-bloodedly commercial.

A Flying Start

The splendid attendance at the borough playgrounds this week more than justifies the hopes of the Recreation Board and citizens in them. New equipment, with the two fine tennis courts outstanding, indicate that the playgrounds will be used to greater advantage than ever this summer.

The fine beginning made on the season's program reflects great credit on the Recreation Board and upon those in actual charge of the playground work, Allan B. Wetherall and his two young women assistants, Miss Bach and Miss Krauser.

An additional advantage will accrue to adults who may avail themselves of the tennis courts in the evenings and on Sundays without charge. Nothing like a good game of tennis to keep the old waistline down or develop an appetite.

Hope for the Independent

The independent merchant who sees only disaster for himself in the arrival of the chain store in his community had a few words of friendly advice given him at the luncheon of the Ardmore Chamber of Commerce this week. William Smedley, secretary of the Pennsylvania Retail Merchants' Association, told him in plain language that "competition is the best thing on earth." He said "the independent merchant is not out . . . he is on the rise."

He named a few "barnacles" that often keep the business man's ship from coming into the harbor of success:

Self-sufficiency.
Ill management.
Selfishness: asking but not giving.
Lack of Sales Ability.
Lack of Store Courtesy.
Poor Turnover.
Troublesome Overhead.
Excess Credit.
Lack of Advertising.

It would be folly to declare that the business man does not often observe these obstacles for himself and try his best to scrape them from the bottom of his craft.

But it is sometimes a good thing for an outsider to put into articulate language the thoughts that have been leaping hither and yon in our own craniums. We think more of our own idas when another person tells them to us in downright, forceful language.

JESS—IN FUN

The worst, the very worst, has happened. Jasmine wants to go to Europe. I have warned her that travel is broadening, but she says that she is willing to take a chance with her girlish figure. Then she says that England will teach both of us a great deal. There she scores a point. England WILL teach her a lot. With all due deference to the little lady's intelligence I must publicly confess that she still thinks barristers are those things which the Littlekisses slide down in the front hall while papa is writing his novel, that Edinburgh is pronounced precisely in accordance with its spelling, and that the Albert Hall is a prominent social lion. But I can't take her to Europe.

One reason is that I would never be able to answer all her questions successfully. It is difficult enough now for me to frame a successful reply to "Where have you been all evening?" and "Where did these blonde hairs come from?" What on earth would I do with "What makes the tower of Pisa lean, Jess?" "How many shillings equal ten marks and forty-one francs?" What time is it in Philadelphia now?" and "Why do you want to go to the Folies Bergere?" When one has difficulty in telling lies about subjects which he fully understands, he should never, never attempt to tell lies on foreign soil.

Then there is the Shakespeare controversey. When the little lady and I become weary of arguing the Vanderbilt Convention and the tariff, we always turn to Shakespeare. I think that Shakespeare wrote Shakespeare, while Jasmine thinks that Bacon wrote Shakespeare. Time and again I point out to her how utterly untenable her position is. If Bacon wrote the plays that some people regard as Shakespeare's, even then Bacon wrote Bacon and not Shakespeare. Then there was no Shakespeare and Bacon did not write Shakespeare. Of course this is clear as I write it, but she can't seem to see it. The rub in England would come when I desired to go down to Stratford-on-Avon. She would insist that I go to Ham-and-Eggly or wherever it was that Bacon lived. And our argument would be revived with new vigor.

And we would have trouble in Rome. I am sure that Mister Mussolini would be unwilling to go away for a few days. And I am equally confident that no city, not even the Rome of the Caesars, is large enough to house, even temporarily, two such iron-willed and masterful persons as Mussolini and Jasmine. Should there be a meeting between the two, the sparks would fly. It would be the old case of the irresistible force and the immovable body. I can't help wondering whether Mr. Mussolini has had any extensive experience in being bashed over the head with an umbrella.

Fourth of July

I reread the Declaration of Independence on the Fourth of July. I read every phrase of it carefully. I failed to find in its admirable diction any paragraphs making it obligatory upon all citizens to celebrate the day by:

1. Setting off sticks of dynamite in front of the Littlekiss mansion at 6 A. M.
2. Dropping torpedos directly to the aft of a certain columnist as he walked the street meditating upon the lives of American heroes and their influence upon government everywhere.
3. Tossing what is technically known as a "son-of-a-gun" into the tonneau of a certain well-known but not well-run automobile.
4. Shouting and whooping from early morn until late at night.
5. Driving their automobiles all day long across the Delaware River Bridge and down the White Horse Pike.
6. Spending the full day lying under a broiling sun on dirty sand, and the full succeeding night upon a bed of pain, applying oils and all manner of unguents in a vain attempt to alleviate the blisters.

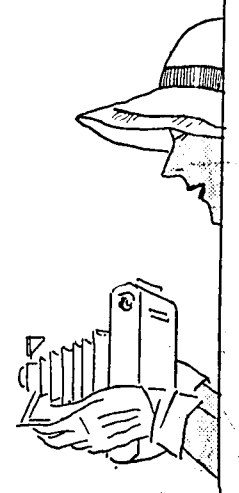
Why we can have so many frocks that one night a crooning orchestra finds us devilish and worldly; and the next night when the moon slips behind a cloud we are ruffles and roses.

> > YOU'D hear that we shop at The Main Line Store. A young folks' store . . . and that includes our mothers and our cousins and our aunts, our sisters, our nieces and our friends. A store that knows we can't go to Paris, and so brings Paris lines to us. A store that understands that though we do dress on a budget, we will keep up with Paris. Yes . . . a shopping place that is our trump in a whole hand of tricks.

This was the way we looked, my dear, in that Summer of 1930



> > ANNE had just snapped us with Joan's golf trophy. For 1930 was a sporting summer. We all wore the smart sports things from The Main Line Store. And they must have been successful, for soon we were buying wedding dresses and dining-room curtains and linen shower presents. We counted heavily on our sports things that summer! And they didn't fail us — those little cotton mesh suits in pink and blue with amusing berets and shorts. We didn't pay but a few dollars for them. But then we knew a thing or two about shopping places!

Reynolds Betters McKee's Strike-out Mark in Narberth's 13-to-3 Victory.

By John Uberti

More records were shattered in Narberth's runaway conquest on Saturday over the E. G. Budd Company of Philadelphia, when William J. Reynolds, better known as "Bill" to his teammates, whiffed the grand number of thirteen players of the rival club to better McKee's recent mark of twelve. By virtue of Reynolds' remarkable record-smashing hurling in this contest, the Narberth Club continued on its long winning campaign to make it eight in a row for the season. This victory was earned by the score of 13 to 3.

Bill Reynolds was very penurious with his blinding offerings as he allowed the chassis builders only seven widely scattered hits which they garnered at the average rate of one an inning. Narberth bats cracked out that many licks in one inning alone to score nine runs, as they came dangerously near last year's record for one inning scoring by connecting for seven hefty nicks in the third frame to chalk up a new high for the present season. The best the Davismen have done in a single inning was against the Newtown Square Club in August of last season when they scored twelve runs in an inning in their 26-to-2 win.

Narberth's victory over the E. G. Budd Company, despite the unevenness of the fray, places the Boroughites upon the highest pedestal of Philadelphia baseball for, in vanquishing the foemen, they cast aside a powerful piece of baseball machinery whose engines were never given an opportunity to properly function. In this one-sided triumph, it must be realized that Nar-

A PLEASANT MOTOR TRIP

Prepared by the
KEYSTONE AUTOMOBILE CLUB

Two well-paved main trunk highways that were once narrow muddy Indian trails carry thousands of travelers annually through the attractive scenic regions on either bank of the beautiful blue St. Lawrence River and into that vacation paradise known as the Thousand Islands. To this delightful region the Keystone Automobile Club has mapped a most interesting motor journey for vacationists.

"Historically this section teems with interest while scenically it has been lavishly endowed and remains unspoiled in its natural charm," says Joseph Murphy, manager of the Ardmore branch of the club. "The name, 'Thousands Islands,' is no misnomer. By actual count there are 1692 islands in the St. Lawrence between Lake Ontario and the 'Narrows,' fifty miles below. Scattered in picturesque profusion, irregular in shape and size, they divide the crystal waters into a maze of channels."

From Ardmore the tour leads through Norristown and Center Square to Montgomeryville where national route 309 is met and followed northward through Allentown, Lehighton, Hazleton and Wilkes-Barre to Scranton. Here national route 11 is used through highly scenic regions of northern Pennsylvania to Binghamton, N. Y. Northward this highway carries the travelers through Courtland and skirting the edge of the famous Finger Lake region passes through Syracuse to Watertown. From here State route 12 leads to Clayton on the banks of the St. Lawrence River.

This delightful resort in the heart of the Thousand Islands is known as the "Venice of America," for twelve miles above and forty miles below Clayton stretch the Thousand Islands, presenting scenes of great beauty and lasting charm. Northward along the banks of the St. Lawrence State route 3 leads to Alexandria Bay. Within a radius of ten miles of this delightful resort are located two-thirds of all the Thousand Islands. Swift little motor boats, so numerous and indispensable here, transport the tourists through winding waterways and into scenic fairylands. Alexandria Bay is a mecca for lovers of water sports. Here are held important regattas and during the boat races the St. Lawrence region dons her most colorful array.

Through Redwood and Hammond State route 3 leads to Morristown. From here a delightful side trip can be made to the Black Lake section. From Morristown the highway winds along the river bank to Ogdensburg, near the rapids in the St. Lawrence River. Northward State route 3 leads through picturesque natural scenic regions to Massena on the American side. From Ogdensburg the tourists can cross the river to Prescott on the Canadian shore. At the east end of the town is Fort Wellington, built during the War of 1812 and still in a remarkable state of preservation. Its museum is well worth a visit.

Northward from Prescott the Dominion Highway route 2 leads to Montreal. Southward the same highway carries the travelers homeward along the Canadian side of the St. Lawrence. Ten miles southward lies Brockville, from which the famous Three Sisters Islands can be visited. This town is also the pivot point for a side trip to the beautiful Rideau Lakes. Charleston Lake, twenty miles from Brockville, is also a delightful scenic motor run. Below this point the travelers will find several sections where the river can be recrossed to either Alexandria Bay or Clayton and the return journey can be started back to Watertown.

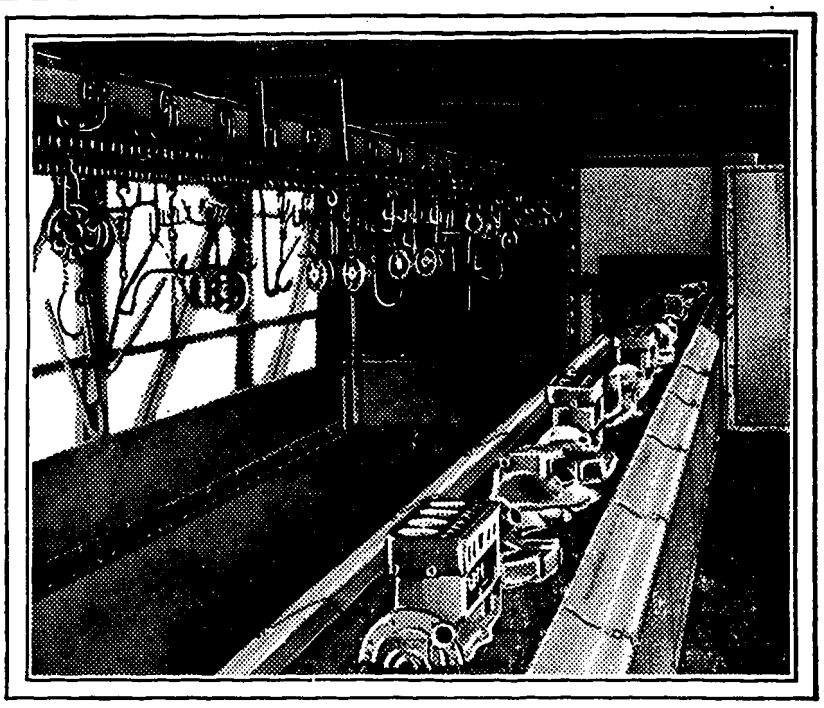
Miles of Conveyors in Ford Plant



This picture shows two types of conveyors in use in the Rouge Plant of the Ford Motor Company.

AN ENDLESS chain conveyor, three and a half to four miles long, said to be the longest in the world, has just been completed at the Rouge Plant of the Ford Motor Company at Dearborn, Michigan. On it parts of Ford cars in the process of manufacture are transported from one building to another and completed parts are carried direct to railroad cars for shipment to branch assembly plants.

The conveyor, which carries its cargo on suspended hooks, has a daily capacity for 300,000 parts weighing over 2,000,000 pounds. It supplants freight cars and trucks which have been used for the transfer of many parts from one point to another in the Ford plant.

This longest conveyor of them all is a development of the Ford policy that nothing should be done by manual labor that could better be done by machine.

In the early days of his manufacturing career, Mr. Ford devised the assembly line—a moving track on which cars in the process of assembly went to the workmen instead of the workmen carrying parts to the car. The assembly line, perfected in many ways, is now used by automobile manufacturers generally.

The value of the conveyor in reducing physical labor, in saving time, in preserving system and in cutting costs soon became apparent and its use was extended to other purposes about the plant. Now there are literally miles of conveyors of various types in the Ford plant. Some of them carry parts from one building to another and are carefully synchronized so that the parts arrive at precisely the right moment and in the exact spot where they are needed. Others transport red hot ingots of steel weighing nearly a ton each. Still others move outgoing shipments.

If it were not for the conveyors, according to officials of the Ford Company, mass production would not be possible on its present scale.

berth's win over the visitors was mainly due to their showing in that turbulent third inning merry-go-round attack. Three pitchers of the alien corps were never given an opportunity to settle down on that pinnacle, and to keep the adversay off guard continually, is half the battle, according to sport critics of every capacity.

This teeming third inning cluster of nine runs, at which time the local line-up went into its second round of batting, came as a surprise to the E. G. Budd Company nine and will evidently give them something to talk about this winter in their fireside discussions over leading events of the past season.

That slugging Narberth clan is evidently preparing for the championship go scheduled at the Villanova Stadium this week, for not only did they attack Armstrong, Hilburn and Epstein with cyclic regularity, but each bingle was detrimental to the rival cause. Of Narberth's thirteen hits, eight were singles, three were triples and two were doubles, Ray Young making the most auspicious showing by getting one of these triples and a single.

At first it seemed as though Reynolds would win a shut-out victory as the Philadelphia Club maintained a dormant disposition for the first five innings of the game. Only three hits had been granted the enemy up until this time and in the subsequent stanza they surprised their own followers by scoring a run. Two more in the seventh were granted for charity's sake but after that Bill put a clamp to alien scoring.

Narberth scored a pair of runs in the second and one in the fourth and seventh. We shall now describe that noisy third inning affair wherein they tabbed nine pointers. Heckle struck out, which is a poor way to start a record-breaking dash. Morgan went to first by means of an alien blunder, which also is considered an abominable way of getting on. Then McEntee tripled to right field to send in Morgan, and Fleck raised his consecutive hitting mark to fifteen games as he singled to centre field to ship in the Pennac wizard. Humphries poled a double crack into left field and Martin strolled to pack the bases. Then Joel Rubincam, always dangerous with a bat in his hand, emptied the lanes with a long triple into the right wing. Young sent in the Rube with a single to left centre and Reynolds, the hitting pitcher, singled to the infield. Heckle came to bat again this inning and singled for his only hit of the game. When Morgan failed in his bid for a bingle, Heckle was retired at the keystone and Young came home with a run. Armstrong balked on the peak and Reynolds was motioned home by the umpire. McEntee was hit by a pitched ball and MacDonald blundered to send Fleck to first unmolested, while Morgan counted off the error. Humphries, with his glaring red cap, was disappointed when he lofted to Hilburn, for Gene Davis was just beginning to add up the havoes of war.

McKee Fans Twelve in Media A. A. Win

Eleven-to-Three Victory, Fifth Straight, Hung Up Last Wednesday.

SEASON'S BIGGEST SCORE

By John Uberti

Joe McKee, Narberth's latest acquisition to her pitching corps, was at the peak of form in last Wednesday's nightcap when he bettered his own hurling record of nine strikeouts, by raising the mark to twelve, as the Narberth Club continued to trek on in its rampant fashion against the Media A. A. for their fifth consecutive victory of the season. The score, the bulkiest of the season, was 11-3.

In this victory Narberth ran its string of triumphs to five straight games for an average of .666 for the season to date, while McKee won his second contest of the year as against one loss.

The lean pitcher heaved a meritorious game against the highly reputed slugging Media A. A. boys, and only when his fine support weakened on one occasion in the seventh, did the foemen avert a drastic shutout defeat. In this inning two errors by Mulligan, who played shortstop up until the sixth inning and then was sent to third in exchange with Humphreys, cost McKee a shutout victory. Burns also was charged with a passed ball in this stanza which accounted for an alien run.

The game was safely tucked away in the very first inning when the Narberth bats rang out five resounding blasts, scoring seven runs against the surprised Media Club. Only three visiting players succeeded in reaching base during the first six innings, two of them by hits and one by virtue of an error. None, however, went as far as second. Then in the seventh, the visitors used Narberth's famous seventh inning tactics and scored thrice out of three bingles which was the only scoring McKee permitted them to have for the evening.

McKee was extended in scoring his strikeout record of the year by Deegan, of the Media nine, who followed in close pursuit up until the fifth at which time both pitchers were credited with six strikeouts apiece.

Deegan scored one more for the game while McKee got down to real earnest pitching for the remainder of the contest, fanning six more men in the last three innings of play.

Narberth's potency at bat was also at its peak as sixteen hits were amassed against six of the rival club. Each player of the Narberth cast garnered at least two hits except Heckle on shortstop. Thomas, Narberth's great outfielder, batted at a 1.000 clip, while McKee trailed with .666 as is computed from two hits out of three trips to the plate. Four other men batted .500 and Rubincam could only connect for .333.

The Davismen did their scoring in four innings, but their bulky seven runs in the opening session discouraged the foemen beyond belief. The first ball that came whizzing over the plate was wild and struck Curwin. Johnny then moved up a base on Heckle's sacrifice hit and Humphreys singled into deep centre. Burns' one base hit was so well placed that both Curwin and Humphreys scurried home on the hit. Martin beat out his easy infield tap and Rubincam strolled. Mulligan blanked and when Thomas walked the bases were all occupied. McKee lost no time in pounding out a one-base smash which let in two more runs, Martin and Joel counting. Curwin came to bat again this inning and clicked a speedy single past first to score Thomas and the seventh and last run of the big inning, for Heckle lofted to Campbell in left field for the third out.

Narberth Captures Holiday Twin Bill Ties For First Place With Berwyn

By John Uberti

Those faithful boys of the Narberth Ball Club have never yet disappointed the equally faithful baseball fans of the Borough. For in that glorious Fourth of July diamond classic of the year, before a mammoth audience of 3500 rooters, they effected a spirited rally in the struggle for Main Line League sovereignty by copping the morning game from Paoli, 6-4, and the post meridian fray from Berwyn, 7-5. This sprightly spurt of the day placed the Main Line Baseball Czars in a tie with Berwyn.

In this double-barreled victory of the Fourth, Narberth ran its triumphs to seven straight, a new mark for consecutive wins for the present season. But in both of these holiday conquests, the Narberth lads sensed something new when both clubs made their appearance upon the local diamond with a complete shakeup of their respective teams. Jimmy Noblitt, heroic pitcher against many a Narberth hurler, faced defeat in opposition to Graham, who won the morning combat. "Bing" Wagner opposed the celebrated Walter Masters in the afternoon contest and caused the University of Pennsylvania moundsman to extend himself considerably for those Berwyn players certainly can hit his offerings and they proved that on the Fourth of July.

Again the veteran leader of batters, Vernie Fleck, continued on his relentless batting spree as he increased his hitting streak to thirteen and fourteen games respectively. But that is about all the homage that can be paid this elderly player of Narberth. There are two men whose services for the Narberth cause contributed largely to the successful outcome of the day. We shall not be verbose in our description of Joel Rubincam and Joe McEntee whose singular performances are esteemed by all, fans pro and con, and they surely did show it.

McEntee's home-run clout in the morning game which accounted for two runs, proved to be the knock that spelled defeat for the Paoli Club, for a sprightly rally by the foemen in that fervid, pulsating fifth were enough to snarl the game had not McEntee come through with his timely rap. In the second game, McEntee made still a more impressive showing when he pounded out a .750 mark, which is computed from his three nicks out of four official trips to the plate. Two doubles and a single were credited this star Pennac first baseman while a walk in his initial appearance at the pentagon gave him an opportunity to display his keenness of eye in watching for the good ones. In addition to all this, Joe also scored two of the seven runs coined by the Borough clan, while his teammate, Joel Rubincam, on second base, accounted for another two runs in this second game.

Rubincam did not shine so much as a stickwielder in these two games as much as he did afield. The Rube fielded splendidly against those dangerous adversaries, his flawless retrives and accurate assists mowing down five of the fourteen men in the second conquest. Down by the old town drug stores you can still see the folks gathering around talking of the performance of the Rube on the keystone.

In the morning fray Howard Graham pitched his way to his fifth victory of the season and it was a well-earned victory at that. When those Paoli boys started on him in the fifth stanza and bombarded him for three big hits and three runs, Graham put all his faith into the slugging ability of his pals to pull him through. Narberth scored two runs in the second inning and Paoli cut the lead down to one as they counted once in the fourth. Fleck popped up to Umback, but Masters who played in the outfield in the first game, knocked off a single into centre field and stole the keystone. McEntee fell on strikes but the veteran, clad in his conspicuous red cap, approached the disc and slapped a long one-bagger into left field to score Walter Masters. Humphreys also crossed by virtue of Kearney's infield nick. Graham blanked.

Four runs in the home half of the third gave the pachyderms of the diamond a safe lead, but Paoli again cut it down in the fourth by sending three men over the final scoring station. Heckle walked and when Potter erred in his judgment of Burns' weaving comber, there were two men on the bags. But only for a moment, for Babb came up and touched Noblitt for a long double into right field to send in Heckle, Mickey going to third. Fleck was unproductive in his appearance and struck out. Masters raised a deep fly into centrefield which was credited him as a sacrifice hit, in that Mickey scampered home with the second run. Then McEntee came forth to depress the game Noblitt with a circuit hit sending in Babb for the third and fourth and final runs of the contest. There was no more scoring in this game as the foemen outhit the Boroughites, seven to six.

Walter Master, a highly esteemed pitcher from the college ranks, scaled the peak in the second game, but the enemy batters unanimously agreed that his speed was by no means enigmatic and statistics prove their opinion, for the adversaries worked him for bingles as they would have any other pitcher. Berwyn gathered eleven hits off Walter in this game to equal the mark against their own Wagner. However, Masters lead in strikeouts as he fanned nine for the contest but the University star was often in deep water, especially in that memorable eighth when the Doyle Nursery boys packed the bases twice, scored three runs, and left the lanes still jammed as Masters retired the side.

Narberth scored in denominations of twos in the fourth, sixth and seventh and sent over a lone point in the eighth.

Letter to Editor

Finds Narberth Kind

Editor, "Our Town":

Before leaving Narberth as a resident I should like to draw attention of its kindly people to something they may not have noticed, that I hope will give them pleasure as it has me.

There is a working horse here going its rounds in the streets day after day, in heat or cold, rain or shine, that is so well cared for, treated with such kindly intelligence, that it is a pleasure to watch it. I do not know the name of either horse or driver, though I am sure both have names!

The first time I saw it was a very hot day when other horses of that class were panting with heat, many with check so tight there could be no relief by change of position of head or neck. I had just seen one milk horse roughly yanked about by the poor sensitive mouth. Turning away, it was a pleasant surprise to see a perfectly comfortable, happy-loking horse attached to a Bond Bread wagon, being turned about by the driver, by quietly laying his hand on one flank. The horse understood at once. I watched it as the man got out and went from house to house, turning slightly and motioning the horse. It crossed the street there, or followed here, evidently both horse and driver enjoying the pleasant understanding between them.

Another time, I happened to pass and saw a support taken from the wagon for the feed bag. This time it was cold, and other horses were chilled from having been over-hurried, and then left without protection in the wind. This one showed no sign of discomfort, was watching happily as the bag was adjusted to the right height, then buried its nose in it while the man, having thrown a rug over it, patted its neck before he walked away.

When that horse reaches the Judgment Seat, its evidence will not be against "Man." I am glad there will be one, and I am glad it is having its life in Narberth—a town I, too, have found kind. M. W. P.

(Editor's Note—This letter was handed the Editor of "Our Town" for publication this week by little old Mrs. George Parkinson, for many years a resident here, whose husband died a year ago. She was in Narberth on a matter of business, after returning from a convention of the Deaf in New York, and is spending the summer near Marblehead, Mass.)

Winning Streak Goes to Ten Straight

squeezed out a lone run. Manager Davis saw the termination of a most favorable series in this game for it was the tenth consecutive win for his boys, having won every game since their last defeat at the hands of Pennac.

Vernie Fleck, the father of Narberth baseball, entered the scoring column again after a doubtful start and blasted out, at the expense of Rothey, two well-earned singles and thereby extended his long hitting streak to sixteen games. It is almost imperative of Vernie to clout consistently from now on if he wishes to retain his hitting laurels for the club.

For the second time this week Bob Martin batted at the maximum pace in earning for himself a 1.000 mark. Harvey Humphries was another obstacle to the Llanerch team in this fray for, of the four passes issued by Rothey, the veteran took three and barely lost out in the attempt to bat for the maximum as he popped up in his final appearance. Three walks and a single were credited to the flashy third baseman up until the last frame, but in that session Mehl made a fine retrieve of his deep hit into right-field.

Joe McEntee, Joel Rubincan, Bob Martin and Vernie Fleck each accounted for two of the nine runs coined while a blunder by McNally, behind the plate, resulted in the tabbing of the other run.

The statistical returns as Narberth approaches the eve of a championship game show that the champions have won fourteen out of the past twenty games played thus far. For league games alone the Narberth Club has won five and lost three, while in independent ball they have earned nine victories as against three losses.

Cardinals Win Series From Lucky Nine

In his first appearance as a Cardinal player "Eck" Burgess pitched brilliantly to win from the Lucky Nine. Three double plays by the Cardinals, one of which Burgess made unassisted, were the chief features of the game. Sexton also pitched excellent ball, but Burgess was given great support by his teammates. This game also gave the Cardinals the series with the Lucky Nine, having won two and lost one.

24th Ward Bows

Joe McKee scored another jubilant triumph in Monday night's seven-inning game with Twenty-fourth Ward when the abbreviated contest robbed him of an excellent opportunity to redeem himself of his lost pitching prestige now held by Bill Reynolds. However, Joe won with ease over the foemen from the 40th and Race Streets district to accomplish his fourth victory of the season by the count of 6-4.

Wheat Crop of Penshurst Farm, Gathered This Week, to Be Consumed by Prize Ayrshires

Threshing commenced Monday and is expected to be finished by the end of this week at Penshurst Farm. If this item appeared in a rural newspaper, it would occasion only slight interest. But in this section, well, read on . . . .

Along State Road, in Penn Valley, Lower Merion, sixty acres of wheat are being threshed by a tractor, threshing machine and fifteen men. Dr. E. S. Deubler, superintendent of the farm, expects a crop of about 1200 bushels. And because wheat prices are at their lowest in years, he expects to feed the wheat to the cattle on the farm, instead of selling the flour.

There are 300 head of registered Ayrshire cattle on the farm—one of the finest herds in the United States. Their milk goes to Bryn Mawr Hospital and other institutions and dealers in this part of the country. And it is sold through the Scott-Powell Dairy.

The wheat harvested this year is part of a rotation of crops required to keep the soil of the sixty-acre farm at its best. Last year corn was planted Next year alfalfa, and the following. corn again.

The farm, one of the finest in Pennsylvania, and certainly the largest on or near the Main Line, is not far from our well built up suburban communities of Bala-Cynwyd and Narberth. It has been known as Penshurst Farms for thirty years, and is survivor of the many in this section which were in existence over a hundred years ago.

The owner, Percival Roberts, Jr., inherited the farm from his father, who purchased it about half a century ago. The original holdings have been enlarged, and it is renowned under the management of Mr. Roberts and Dr. Deubler as being one of the most modern and well-run farms in this country.

If you think there's something wrong with this community do something besides talk about it.
